Since the launch of the Hopeful Cities Program on March 6, 2024, Las Vegas has incorporated hope-based programming into the ReInvent Afterschool Program (RAP). Two hundred eighty elementary school students across seven schools engage in the Hopeful Minds curriculum each month. The program emphasizes creative, hands-on activities designed to make the concepts of hope tangible and accessible.

The Mayor's Fund for Las Vegas LIFE supports the initiative, with additional collaboration from local organizations such as Hope Means Nevada, Compassionate Las Vegas, and others. These partnerships are central to the city's ongoing commitment to building a hopeful future for its residents.

Several local organizations are actively involved in promoting hope throughout Las Vegas:

Green Our Planet has contributed to the initiative by planting sunflowers at 220 schools across the city as symbols of hope. They have also organized family engagement events at Wynn Elementary, where participants learned about the Hopeful Cities initiative and planted sunflowers together.

“I love to see Hope in action in our community, and the sunflowers serve as such an important symbol of hope. The Green Our Planet Team is thrilled to be working with our schools to expand Gardens for Hope and ensure everyone knows these resources are available for use to ensure all children, teachers, and parents are equipped with skills for ‘how’ to hope.” said Ciara Byrne, Co-Founder & Co-CEO, Green Our Planet.

Hope Means Nevada has helped raise awareness of the Hopeful Cities initiative through a campaign with Mayor Pro Tem Brian Knudsen. The campaign included over 75 bus shelter ads promoting the city's hope resources. Hope Means Nevada also connected with local families at Green Our Planet's Fall Giant Student Farmers Market.

“We are tremendously grateful to be part of the Hopeful Cities movement. It is a powerful initiative that aligns with our mission at Hope Means Nevada to eliminate teen suicide and empower Nevada's youth to live hopeful lives,” said Ciara Bellavance, Executive Director, Hope Means Nevada

Compassionate Las Vegas has supported the dissemination of Shine Hope resources and invited Kathryn Goetzke, Chief Hope Officer of The Shine Hope Company, to discuss hope on their podcast. Additionally, Will Rucker, host of the Compassionate Las Vegas Podcast, shared his personal Shine Hope Story to inspire others to embrace hope.

He shows how to use the Shine Hope framework and other tools to create, maintain, and grow Hope.

“I'm so proud of the City of Las Vegas for operationalizing hope as part of its commitment to mental health and being a Compassionate City. Stories are the language of the heart, and sharing mine is an offering of light and connection. Each of us has a story of hope that shines bright,” shares Will Rucker, host of the Compassionate Las Vegas Podcast, Community Health Director at Intermountain Health, and member of the board of directors for the Mayor's Fund for Las Vegas LIFE.

“The City of Las Vegas is leading by example, showing the world what it means to Shine Hope. We extend our deepest gratitude to our partners– the Mayor’s Fund for Las Vegas LIFE, Hope Means Nevada, Compassionate Las Vegas, Green Our Planet, UNLV, the Moonridge Group, Vegas PBS, and many others–whose support makes this movement possible,” adds Kathryn Goetzke, Chief Hope Officer at The Shine Hope Company.
